JUSTICE BREWER DIES SUDDENLY

VETERAN JURIST—PASSED AWAY
AT HIS HOME IN WASH-INGTON.

END OF LONG, USEFUL LIFE

Strong Member of the Supreme Court
—Was Appointed by President Harrison.
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., March 29.—The death of Justice Brewer, of the supreme court of the United States, at his home in this city late last night, caused profound regret here and throughout the country.

Many calls were made at the Brewers' residence today by sympathizing friends of the family and messages of condolence arrived in great numbers. The members of the supreme court, of the United States were among callers.

Justice Brewer was found in the bath room of his house dying of apoplexy. The discovery being made by Mrs. Brewer.

David J. Brewer was born in Smyrna, Asia Minor, June 20, 1837.

Associate Justice Brewer.

His father, Josiah Brewer, was a missionary to the Greeks in Asia Minor. The boy was brought to America early and was educated in the United States.

He was graduated with honors at Yale in 1859, and after a course at Albany law school went to the territory of Kansas and began the practice of his profession. He was first elected as a judge in 1862, soon after the admission of the state.

It was a decision while a judge of the Kansas supreme court that brought Justice Brewer into national prominence. In a case that came before him in 1883 he held the anti-railroad laws enacted by the state legislature to be unconstitutional.

When President Harrison organized his cabinet he had a strong disposition to hand out one of the portfolios to Justice Brewer, and later in the year he made the Kansas jurist a member of the United States Supreme Court.

Already there is considerable talk as to his possible successor and it is stated that President Taft has the name of Gov. Francis of New York state under consideration. Whether Justice Brewer will be in a position to accept the office is not known.

The death of Justice Brewer is thought may seriously inconvenience the verdict of the two most important cases now being considered by the supreme court, that against the Standard Oil and the Tobacco trust.

MONITOR COMPANY'S EQUIPMENT ARRIVES

Work of Installing Machines Started Today—Charles L. Fildes and Jos. Weber Jr., Named Directors.

This morning the first two carloads of the Monitor Automobile Company's factory equipment arrived from Chicago and work of installing the machinery in the new factory on North Academy street was begun. The machines will be placed as fast as they arrive and it is believed that a small force can be put to work early next week. It is necessary to begin operations as soon as possible as the company has a number of cars ordered for this season.

There has been some delay in getting the work started and it was necessary to secure a license before the company could do business in the state of Wisconsin but this was secured last week and the work of moving the equipment from the Chicago factory started. At a meeting of the stock holders and directors held in Chicago Saturday evening, the resignation of two of the directors was accepted and Charles L. Fildes and Joseph Weber Jr., of this city were chosen to succeed them.

There was another meeting held last night in the office of C. L. Fildes at which William Westerlund, president and J. E. Norling, treasurer, were present and at which the arrangements for locating the stock were completed, thus winding up the financial end of the deal. Both the president and treasurer left today to superintend the removal of what machinery remains in Chicago. Most of the equipment however, is either on the road or in Janesville today.

Bastille Has Been Converted into Fine Gravel Highway.

Prisoners at the Rock county jail have been earning their board and lodging during the past few days and as a result of their efforts the sidewalk on Park street have been filled and a block of excellent gravel road-way laid out in front of the county jail. The material used was the screened gravel left over from the building operations at the Lewis Knitting company's plant and cheerfully donated for the purpose. There was some murmuring among the inmates of Sheriff Schell's "silly palace of perfumed ease" when the order to "turn out" was issued but the majority accepted their fate cheerfully and fell to with a will.

MORE MILLIONS FOR A FOREIGN TITLE

Miss Harriet Daly, Daughter of the Copper King, and Count Sigray
Of Hungary Wedded Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
New York, March 29.—Another alliance of American millions and a foreign title was consummated this afternoon in the ceremony which made Miss Harriet Daly, daughter of "Copper King" Marcus Daly of New York and Montana, the bride of Count Anton Sigray, a Hungarian nobleman, son of the Marquis of St. Patrick's Cathedral officiated at the ceremony, which took place at the Daly residence in Fifth avenue in the presence of a small but notable company of society people.

Miss Daly had no attendants and her mother gave her in marriage. Count Sigray had as his best man the Marquis George Pallavicini, a subaltern of the 9th Regiment of Austrian Hussars and a chamberlain of Emperor Francis Joseph.

The bride of today first met her future husband when the Count visited America two years ago with his friend and distant cousin, Count Szeczhényi. On that occasion Count Anton paid much attention to Miss Daly, but it was not until they met again last summer in Scotland at the wedding of Prince Miguel de Braganza and Miss Anita Stewart, that a real courtship began. Miss Daly attended the Braganza wedding with her sister, Mrs. James Watson Gerard.

The bride is twenty-four years old and made her social debut several years ago. She is the youngest of the three daughters of the late Marcus Daly and Mrs. Daly. Since her debut she has appeared with success in the various tableaux arranged for charity, and has been much admired for her charm of manner. During the past few years she has divided her time between London, New York and Newport.

Count Sigray, who is about thirty years old, is a Magistrate of Hungary and a hereditary member of the upper house. His family is one of the oldest and wealthiest in Hungary and holds many important positions. The Count himself is said to be a large land owner, his estates being situated at Szatmar, in Upper Hungary. Both of his parents are dead, his father having died some years ago. He has two sisters, one being the Marquise San Mazzano, who married an Italian and lives in Rome, and the other the Baroness Schell, who lives in Hungary.

Count Sigray is no stranger in New York, having come here first five years ago in company with Count Michael Karolyi, one of his countrymen, and they were both much entertained in society. Count Sigray was also here at the wedding of Miss Gladys Vanderbilt and Count Szeczhényi, two years ago, when he was one of the ushers. During his first visit to America he went to California to play polo, he being one of the best exponents of that sport in his own country, and later he went to Canada to hunt big game. He brought letters to the Astor, Mills and Gould families, by whom he has been frequently entertained.

STRANGE TALE OF PEASANT
GIRL'S RAPID RISE.

POVERTY TO GREAT WEALTH

Now Her Husband's Relatives Seek to Take Fortune Away From Her.

Chicago, Illinois, March 29.—The strange fascination of the late Frederick Schramm, 82 years old, a wealthy member of one of Chicago's most aristocratic families for a beautiful young peasant girl of Austria-Hungary, which led him to take the girl as his wife at the very sunset of his life and to give her all of the property he had accumulated during his lifetime, cutting off his relatives without a penny, is to be told before Judge Moran in the circuit court, where the suit of relatives asking that the old man's marriage to Elizabeth Schramm, nee Elizabeth Erb be annulled, is on trial.

The suit tells the story of one of the most remarkable courtships and marriages ever brought into the limelight of the courts. It tells of how a beautiful woman fully conscious of the power of her physical allurements and her magnetism, but ignorant from the standpoint of education, entered the household of the eccentric old man as a maid and housekeeper and within five weeks' time won her employer's heart and was married to him. Five days after their marriage he died.

The part of the young peasant girl is a mystery, which the lawyers representing the relatives will attempt to fathom.

For four years she lived in New York and Philadelphia coming to Chicago some time in 1906. She had no friends in this city and accordingly was forced to seek work at a West

COUNCIL GRANTS RIGHTS TO ROAD

AMENDS FRANCHISE OF INTERURBAN GRANTING MORE PRIVILEGES.

DELAY REPORT ON SEWERS

Much Routine Business Transacted Also at Next To Last Regular Meeting of Common Council.

After the ordinance granting to the Deloit, Delavan Lake and Janesville Interurban Railway Company additional rights had been given its first and second readings, at the regular council meeting last night rules were suspended, the ordinance read a third time and then unanimously adopted. To make assurance doubly sure, the council not only adopted the amendments but adopted the ordinance as amended.

As the amended franchise reads, the road will enter the city from the private right of way on the south, cross the Spring Brook bridge, then cross north on the Deloit and St. Main Sts., as far as Milwaukee street, cross the Milwaukee St. bridge and proceeding around the loop of the present interurban and going south by way of South Franklin St.

With regard to the matter of what share of the cost of bridge building should be borne by the company, the road agreed to a share proportionate to the width of the structure occupied by their tracks. Should a new thirty-foot bridge on Milwaukee street be constructed, the road will shoulder the expense of six feet or one-fifth of the cost. An agreement was also made as regards the Spring Brook bridge while arrangements were made to arbitrate all differences should disputes arise.

As has already been given, the road contracts to run but a single track through the city except where side tracks and Y's are necessary, to store no cars in the street and to do all work within eighteen months of the passage of the franchise, which is for fifty years.

Sewer Work For 1910.

Considerable discussion was aroused over the making for further time by Alderman Buchholz of the sewerage committee on work ordered done in districts fourteen and sixteen as the committee was willing to accept a portion of the work planned but wanted more time to consider the remainder and also the work which has been postponed for within the past few days. After the legality of the action had been assured, the additional time was granted.

Bills Allowed. With reference to the usual amount of bills ordered paid, an item for $13.11, presented by Chief of Police Appleby for his trip to Milwaukee in connection with the oleomargarine case, was allowed after some discussion while the remainder of the batch, amounting to $109.14, aroused no comment. Salaries of the city officers for the month of March were ordered paid, and the city clerk was directed to draw on the treasurer in the amount of $52.37 and charge to the Fire and Water fund, in favor of Albert Polzin for 111 bushels of oats at $4.75.

Inaugural Reports. For the information of the aldermen, who are desirous of keeping close tabs on what work is being done in their wards, Alderman Dahn moved that the street commissioner be directed to furnish one alderman in each ward at each regular meeting, a report of the work done in their respective wards for the preceding two weeks and where said work was performed. The plan met with the entire approval of all present and the order was adopted.

Public Works. Much work of routine nature was transacted, including orders for the street commissioner to repair and resurface where necessary the macadam pavement on South Third and Court streets and Milton Ave., under the direction of the street assessment committee, build standard brick cross walks on Main St., to the south side of Western Ave., on Center and S. Academy streets, on St. Mary's Ave., across to east side of Prairie Ave., on the east side of North High St., across Race St., and across Carroll St., on the north side of Glenn St.

The city engineer was directed to prepare and file in the office of the city clerk a grade for Center Ave., from Pleasant St., to Rock River. The city engineer was ordered to build a cement sidewalk and driveway on the west side of East St., between S. Second and S. Third streets, the same being on the east side of the Jefferson school; property owners on Glenn St., between Carroll and Fifth Aves., were authorized to extend the present eight-inch sanitary sewer on that portion of said street east of a distance of about 75 feet and insert the necessary Y's under the direction of the city engineer at their own expense.

Since it was necessary before the macadamizing of Jackson and Sinclair streets from the south side of Milwaukee Ave. to the south side of S. Third St., also S. Third St., from the east side of Jackson to the west side of Sinclair St., all in the third ward, that sewer, water and gas laterals be laid, and that plans for the same had already been drawn, it was resolved the said plans were approved and the city clerk directed to notify property owners on the above streets that such work should be done at their expense before the work of macadamizing be started and if not done, the street assessment committee, acting as a board of public works, was ordered to have the laterals laid and the expense of same charged to the property owners. This order was aimed at a few of the property owners who have not yet laid their connections to the mains.

Approve Plans. Plans for the proposed storm sewer on Sharon street from Logan to Spring Brook were approved and the street assessment committee was authorized and directed to purchase the necessary material and have the same constructed by the street commissioner under their direction. The city clerk was also directed to have the deed for a right of way from Michael Hall for some duty filed for record with the register of deeds.

Miscellaneous Business. Upon motion of Alderman Evans,

the purchasing committee was directed to purchase six chairs for the police station, the same being badly needed. Patrolman Patrick Pannig's salary was fixed at $75 during the coming absence of Assistant Chief John Brown; the city clerk was ordered to have the usual election notice printed in the Janesville Journal; the petition of Abraham Bros. for permission to install a display sign at their store on W. Milwaukee street was laid on the table; further time was granted Alderman Evans, chairman of the committee on public buildings to receive bids for the repainting of the roof of fire station No. 1; permission was granted Mrs. Anna Meakin to construct an addition to her residence, 313 West St.; and Fred Soeman was given permission to move a building from S. Main St. to Hickory St.

Next to Last Regular Meeting. The meeting held last night was next to the last regular meeting that will be held before the new members take their seats and the last before election although there will probably be a couple of special meetings held before the new members come in. All the aldermen were present last night except Richardson and Clark.

Dyspepsia.

Man's normal appetites and passions, if used temperately, make his earth heaven, but if abused or polluted may or can make it living hell. Same way about foods, particularly meats if meat is right in the first place, and then is cooked right, it is all right all together, as delicious as in case of the gods. But if not right to start with, or badly cooked, it becomes the most disgusting deformity and breeder of dyspepsia that comes upon the table.—Houston Pilot.

Makes Delicate Perfume.

To impart the delicate fragrance of any flower to one's letters the oil of any desired flower can be added to the writing fluid. Beant the blotter and place it with the letter paper, but do not put flower oil or perfume upon the letter. A package of invitations can be scented by keeping them over night in a closed jar containing oil of flowers on white wool or cotton.

Transparent.

Woman's Opinion of Her Lawyer.

A woman accused at Kent Anizes of obtaining credit by false pretenses was defended at the request of the court by one of the junior members of the bar. Asked in cross-examination why she had not put certain questions to one of the witnesses for the prosecution, she replied: "I have simply have pulverized the witness. I mean no disrespect to this young gentleman (indicating her counsel), and I believe he will be a very clever man presently." She was acquitted.—London Evening Standard.

Suggestion for Girls.

A girl who has just made a brilliant marriage after two successful seasons, says: "I'm a good deal cleverer than most of the men, but I take great care that they don't know it." This attitude resulted in her being surrounded constantly by a crowd of devoted youths who thought she hung upon their clever sayings. This is a good suggestion to girls just entering society.

OPENED COURT AT MONROE YESTERDAY

Judge Grimm to Hear Four Criminal Cases and Six Other Jury Cases—Monroe Placed in Racine Circuit.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Monroe, Wis., March 22.—Judge Grimm opened the March term of court here yesterday afternoon. The calling of the calendar left four criminal cases and six other jury cases for trial. The case of Eldred J. Pike vs. J. H. Trent was transferred from the jury calendar to the issue of fact for the court and was set for Wednesday, April 6. It is expected that the trial will take the balance of the week. The case of the state vs. Harry Kimbrick was taken up first. Kimbrick was arrested at Mill on complaint of a school teacher there. It is stated that he will admit meeting her but will deny that he pointed a revolver at her, and will also deny the assault as alleged in the complaint. Judge Grimm excused eight jurors and a special venire of ten was ordered. Among the outside attorneys in attendance were M. G. Jeffers and M. O. Monnet of Janesville, and John M. Olin of Madison.

Monroe in Circuit.
At a meeting of the representatives of four county fairs of the two states in the Great Northern hotel in Chicago, the racing circuit for northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin was formed to include the cities of Monroe, Libertyville, Elkhorn and possibly Jefferson. Twenty thousand dollars in purses will be hung up by the fairs, making an appropriation of $5,200 for each fair. This is sure to attract the best field of race courses that it is possible to secure. Libertyville opens the circuit and Monroe gets the third week. C. S. French of Lake Geneva was elected president, and R. A. Ritter of Monroe, secretary of the organization.

Sells Business.
A deal has been closed whereby Clayton Emrick, the north side jeweler, disposes of his interests to Mr. Chas. Kohl of this city. Mr. Kohl is now employed by the Clifford Jewelry company at Plattville, and expects to sever his connection with that firm in about three weeks to take charge of his new business here. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kohl and is an enterprising young man.

Goos to Rockford.
Harley Dedrick of Broadhead, who has been taking a course in the Monroe Business Institute, has gone to Rockford to take a position with the Wilson Bros. Printing company, which position Spruemon Galtner, also a graduate of the institute, and who used to live here, has left to become manager and general superintendent of the Knight Printing company at Fargo, North Dakota.

Yezzer-Baltzer Wedding.
Miss Nettie Yezzer and Mr. Ray Baltzer of this city were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Yezzer, 905 West Summit street. Several guests from out of town were present.

Pays City Bond.
City Clerk Wm. Dunwiddie has paid off the third water works bond of $3,000, forwarding to the Wisconsin National bank a draft for the amount with semi-annual interest, making the total $1,500. The city pays off a $3,000 bond each year and the interest on the outstanding bonds is paid semi-annually.

S. P. Widlauer, the showman, who assaulted an officer near Twin Grove, last year, is here from Red Oak, Ia., for the circuit court proceedings.

T. J. Bast, who has held a position at the Green Bay reformatory for a number of years, has resigned to take a place with a lumber finishing mill at Green Bay at a salary of $1,000 a year.

Miss Elizabeth Buchler is here from Madison.

THEATRE

Al. H. (Metz) Wilson, Manager Sidney R. Ellis will present his star Al. H. Wilson, the singing Ambassador of German dialect, at the Myers Theatre on Tuesday, March 22, in his latest offering which is described as a musical drama and which in reality contains more music than any of his former plays. ENGLISH POLO TEAM INVADES AMERICA—Major H. H. Lee of the English Polo Team.

San Francisco, Cal.—One of the greatest polo tournaments and pony racing carnivals that California has ever known will take place at the Colorado country club's field beginning March 23 and lasting for several days. The greatest polo teams in the world, the visiting British team, the Burlington team, the Riverside team, the Santa Barbara team, and the Los Angeles team will compete for the all American polo championship trophy.

This cup was won for the first time last year by the Burlington team, and the British aggregation which is visiting at Burlington now has come thousands of miles with the idea of winning it. The southern teams are also eager for the coveted prize.

In addition, the California championship cup, presented by John D. Spreckels, will be up for decision. As all the clubs, with the exception of the British aggregation, belong in California, this tournament will be nearly as important as the big one. The Spreckels trophy is one of the finest ever offered in a polo competition and there is great rivalry over it.

A Square Deal

is our policy. We depend on a large volume of business and a small profit.

The merchandise we handle is of high quality, but moderate in price. A great many times we could buy goods of inferior quality, which could be sold for a fraction less, but we aim to uphold the high standard which this store has established.

We conduct our business on a cash basis—buy for cash and sell for cash, thereby eliminating the extra profits which have to be realized when doing business on the credit system.

The interior of our store has been painted and re-modeled. Almost all our spring goods have arrived, showing new spring merchandise.

When dealing with us you will always be treated courteously and we guarantee our goods to please or your money will be gladly refunded.

The Needle Shop is Overflowing With New Unusual Things to Make Your Home Beautiful

It's wonderful how much a new pillow or a new table scarf or some other pretty piece of art embroidery will brighten up a room. And the ease with which these things may be embroidered is scarcely less remarkable. With most women they represent the work of spare moments and women must have work, even when they rest, to be perfectly happy.

What was old fashioned has become new fashioned this season. The rough crash table scarfs are inspired by predecessors, rough only because of the imperfect machinery of their time. The Basket Weave Cloths are reproductions of fabrics made before weaving became a science. The Adobe centerpieces are copies of designs originated by the American Indian of long ago. The rick-rack pieces are from our grandmother's day and many doubtless can remember the time when mother or grandmother embroidered pillow tops of lace just like antique, the lace effects now so much admired, or when the bureau top in the "spare" room was covered with scrim scarfs embroidered in cross stitch.

For those of artistic trend of thought there are new burlap pillows, pillows in Roycroft design on brown linen, conventional designs in Oriental colorings, stenciled scarfs and pillow tops, tapestry scarfs bearing legends of centuries ago, felt mats of new and unusual shape and countless other attractive and unusual things. For the woman who loves daintiness there are silk embroidered pillow tops, embroidered lace tops, etc.

There are so many new things that we cannot begin to tell of even half of them here. The window shows a few, but if you would view the entire collection, come into

INSURGENT TALK.

Interesting as is the news from Washington relative to the plans of the insurgent members, their flight on Cannon and the changing of the house rules, still their latest move to place an outsider, a man not a member of the lower house, in the speaker's chair, has aroused merely mirth from those who have been following the battle royal that has been waged. The Chicago Inter Ocean's comment on this plan is so apposite that the editorial is reprinted in full.

"The latest proposal of the 'insurgent' republicans shows a political incapacity that is almost melancholy. It is that some person not a member of the house be made speaker, say Asher Hinds, the veteran clerk of the house in matters of parliamentary law.

"Mr. Roosevelt is also suggested, apparently for the sole reason that Mr. Roosevelt is coming home from Africa and has no public office.

"Of course the constitution merely says: 'The house of representatives shall choose their speaker and other officers.' It does not prohibit any one not a member of the house from being speaker. Presumably it is open to a majority of the house to make anybody speaker, from the professor of sociology in the University of Chicago to the champion piddler of Pittsburgh.

"It never occurred to the founders of this government to imagine the foolishness that is put forward by the 'insurgents' now as governmental wisdom. They were men of common sense. Obviously what is in the lack of the heads of the 'insurgents' who bring forward this proposition is a fragment of half-knowledge of British methods. There has been a fondness of late for citing British methods as models for our guidance.

"Knowing that such suggestions have been projected upon the young intellectuals of the 'insurgents' enables us to know the origin of their latest plan of dealing with the speaker's situation, which they apparently lack the courage to deal with in any constructive manner.

"The recent uproar in the house is proving to have had its surprises. It has revealed to the country the lack of any constructive 'insurgent' program.

"The 'insurgents' are plainly men not only without a program, but lacking the practical experience to make a program and without the resolution to carry it into effect if made. How great was their opportunity on March 15 and how incompetently they then let I dare not wait upon I would!"

"By a combination with the democrats they had reduced the republicans to a minority. They had deprived the speaker of functions assigned to him by that former majority as the party's chosen leader. They had their longed-for victory won—and they didn't know what to do with it! They apparently had not been able to think that far ahead.

"Obviously the logical course was to depose Mr. Cannon from the speaker's office and put into it some representative of the new majority. But the 'insurgents' had not thought what to do in the situation they had brought about. They were so unprepared to deal with it concretely that a few defiant words from the speaker reduced them to silence. They made a turn about and left him in the chair.

"What is the result? The Cannon organization still rules the house, just as it did before. It rules in a different way, but it still rules. The 'insurgent' revolution was a mere march up the hill and down again.

"The 'insurgents' are just where they were before. All they have proved is what everybody knew already—that a certain number of bolders from the majority can, when the minority party is willing, upset the house organization. All the 'insurgents' got out of their 'revolution' is some materials for Chauncey lectures.

"Of course the trouble with the 'insurgents' is that they are under the delusion that public life is merely a hilarious sequence of oratory and demagoguery—that success in public life is measured by the power shown to make a good speech—that statesmanship is just shooting skyrocket.

"It is too bad that, when they had the opportunity, they did not make at least an earnest effort to show they were really capable of intelligent political purpose and action."

FEDERAL MEDIATION.

In this day and age of the peace-on-earth-and-good-will-to-men doctrine the federal mediation-in-labor disputes is becoming a factor to be considered in all disturbances. The only explanation that can be offered to account for the long delay in some cases and the utter failure in others to apply the provisions of the Erdman act for the remission of differences is that its efficacy in such cases is not yet fully appreciated. That the Erdman act is becoming better understood, however, and that it is being applied with growing efficacy and success, is now made plain. Although it went into operation in 1908, it remained practically a dead letter for nine years. Indeed, it was not until 1908 that it was employed intelligently not only to avert but to settle strikes.

Supplementary and complementary to it since then have been the activities of Charles P. Neill, commissioner of labor, and Martin A. Knapp, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, who have on several occasions united at a crucial moment in bringing about peace through mediation and arbitration. This unity of action and earnestness of purpose, made legitimate and potential through the provisions of the Erdman act, have raised federal intervention in industrial disputes high in popular esteem during the last two years.

The success achieved by the government board of arbitration, of which Messrs. Neill and Knapp are practically the sole constituent members, in averting the recent threatened great strike on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, and its promised success in averting the still greater strike threatened by the western locomotive firemen, will increase immensely the prestige which the methods of Commissioner Neill and Knapp have won not only among workers but among employers of labor.

The point has been raised that an act similar to the Erdman law should be adopted in the several states. The application of the Erdman act to the Philadelphia car strike, if such a thing were possible, might have resulted in the settlement of that trouble long ago. Of course, federal authority can interfere only in labor disputes that involve interstate interests, or that menace the safe carriage of the mails.

It may be taken for granted that further successful applications of this federal law will not only call for its more prompt and frequent employment hereafter, but will lead all the states, whether they have arbitration laws on their statute books or not, to adopt measures for the carrying out of the new conciliation, mediation and arbitration policies for the settlement of local labor disputes. The people of all the states are now watching the process. They will soon be studying and adopting it.

Colonel Roosevelt told the Egyptians some things about themselves and their ideas of self-government, that did not please them overly much. If they know Roosevelt better they would understand that he speaks right out from the shoulder and says what he thinks. Some of the congressmen will appreciate the Egyptian's feelings in the matter, however, from their own experience with the strenuous American.

The death of Justice Brewer removes from the supreme bench of the United States a strong man. It is a loss that will be felt the country over and his end is regretted by both bar and laymen. A lawyer of unusual ability, he has made an ideal member of the highest tribunal of law in this nation for many years, and he passes to the world beyond in the zenith of his power.

Pittsburg bapts are experiencing considerable trouble owing to the assistance of the lawyers in probing into their private affairs. The members of the city council. Pittsburgh is taking the position long held by Chicago as a "boodle" city and follows closely in the wake of the Pennsylvania state capital scandal at Harrisburg. Certainly it was a system of practical politics so long taught in the Keystone state that brought about the present troubles.

President Taft has been placed in a peculiar position. Supposedly backed by a republican congress he finds that he is going to have a hard time picking the goats from the sheep when it comes to counting noses on the passage of the administration measures. However he was elected by the people, not the congressmen, and he must rely upon the people to send him back a congress that is republican without any taint of insincerity about them.

Who wants to talk politics, or wet or dry propositions with such lovely weather for all to enjoy. With birds singing in the trees and buds starting, grass turning green and overcoats hung away in hopes that they will not be needed again this spring. However next Tuesday is election day and everyone should vote. The republicans have a good ticket in the field and the candidates deserve the support of the voters.

It has all been settled. This beautiful spring weather that we are enjoying is all due to that mysterious fall of Halley's comet. If it should turn cold, why the fall has swung away from us, that is all. A local manufacturer advances this scientific idea that it is presented to the public for what it is worth. Anyway the weather is delightful.

The Green Day Gazette is fearful lest the Gazette is going over to La Follette. There is no occasion for fear in this direction. However it might be stated that the Gazette is opposed to having the state run on the Mat Quay style of politics and prefers to stick in the trying pan rather than jump into the fire much as it objects to the La Follette regime.

If it is a genuine campaign that is being conducted for the city attorneyship it is a mighty still one. Both Maxfield and Burpee appear to have warm supporters and Maxfield has demonstrated what he intends doing and should be given an opportunity to continue the work he has begun.

Mount Aetna will never be mistaken for a fireless cooker. With all that lava and smoke and fire something is certainly doing down in the center of the earth.

PRESS COMMENT.

May Came Down.

The house instead of deposing Uncle Joe left him suspended in mid-air. Dockford Star.

Which may result in his alighting on the necks of those who helped put him there.

At Least?

Every Republican at least is in favor of a square deal for the president. Milwaukee Free Press.

Why the "at least" didn't every true republican stand for a square deal for Speaker Cannon.

Enough's Plenty.

After carefully counting up on the calendar an estimated contemporary announces that but thirty-eight weeks remain until Christmas. Aw, forgot it. Milwaukee News.

That's right, don't spend it on too thick. Easter millinery bills are bad enough.

One Better Date.

Seems to be something wrong about this announcement that Dr. Cook will return to New York April 2. Wonder if he didn't mean to name the first?—Eagle News.

If it were left to the people of New York who presented him with the keys of the city, it probably would be February 30.

Good News, By Gosh.

Oshkosh citizens brand us false the rumor that they desire to change the name of the city. Good news.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

A rose by any other name might smell as sweet, but Oshkosh, by any other name, would be lost amid a host of other cities of equal size. It's the name that constitutes Oshkosh's chief claim to fame.

Vindictive.

It is declared that Cannon would resign were the Norris resolution passed. Then pass it by all means, no matter what it contains.—Green Day Gazette.

That seems to be the watchword of the republican guerrillas. Get Uncle Joe's goat, no matter what the consequences may be to the nation or the republican party.

One Clue.

According to President Ripley of the Santa Fe road, the railroads of this country are between the devil and the deep sea. He fails to specify, however, which one is congress.—Oshkosh Northwestern.

Congress must be the former for it certainly has been rubbing that gentleman's place of abode in the legislative halls for the past few days.

"Playful" Is Good.

Wasson girls are looking forward with some interest to the coming of the commercial travelers in convention here next June. The playful ways of the drummer have been heard of even in this city.—Wasson Record-Herald.

Is there one city in this broad land where the playful ways of the drummer have only been "heard of"? Suppose it is a Gilead convention. Then the girls will have a chance to pray instead of play.

Nothing Hindered.

Very natural, every democratic newspaper in the country heartily approves the downfall of Speaker Cannon, republican. It makes great campaign material for the democrats.—Rockford Register-Gazette.

Heart-to-Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

SPILLED MILK.

"I made a big mistake, and I can't get over it. I am very much discouraged and scarcely know what to do."

Thus spoke a friend of mine.

"Why," said I, "that is no matter to cause you regret or make you fret yourself. The fact that you have made a mistake is a good piece of news for you."

"What?" said my friend.

"Certainly. We all make mistakes, and the sooner we discover them the better. It is not so? You should be glad you discovered your error so soon."

It was a new viewpoint.

But it is the proper way to view our mistakes and blunders. The sooner we can rectify them and the less time we spend in brooding over them the better for us.

We are all more or less hapless blunders. And perhaps the strongest of us make the most mistakes. But the strong man does not sit down and pine. He realizes it probably has been his own fault, corrects the mistake, learns the lesson and goes ahead.

So, should you fall down, get up, brush off the dust and go on.

The world is full of opportunities to correct mistakes.

Perhaps no piece of writing extant has contained more false philosophy than Ingalls' poem on "Opportunity." The teaching of the verse is that opportunity knocks but once at every man's door.

Josh!

Opportunity knocks constantly at every man's door, else the human race would have been extinct long ago. Were we fallible to know the way and strong to follow the way we might need but a single chance in a lifetime, but we are neither fallible nor strong.

We are but children—children crying in the night.

Nature knows our childishness, and she forgives us again and again and again. How often she heads a wound! How many chances she gives us! And this, though we constantly disobey her. Nature knows and forgives.

And God forgives, else we should not be alive.

On the rough and stony way upward our feet will often stumble and stray into thorns. But our feet are established again, and the briar wounds soon heal.

"All we like sheep!"

But if we all go astray we should all learn a lesson, and—

Above all else, let us not lose valuable time and energy in crying over spilled milk. There is plenty more milk where that came from.

Get up and fill your pail!

Limit of Contumely.

Uncle Walt

THE POET PHILOSOPHER

By WALT MASON.

(Copyright, 1909, by George Mathew Adams.)

The time's on hand when I will take my trusty spade and garden-rake, and wear old clothes, and dig around at planting doods in the ground. I'll plant a lot of cabbage seeds, and when they grow they'll turn out wads. I'll make a frame of wire and twine, on which I'll grow the carrot vine, and tinker round at building screens, to shield my growing can of beans. And neighbors' hens will come and scratch the stuffing from my garden patch, and hungry cows with wooden horns will spoil my bed of barleycorns, and many dogs and one-eyed cats will ruin all my marrowfat, and snakes and skunks and goats and owls, and fonda and bats and guinea-fowls will make my yard their place of rest, and knock the whole thing galley west. And I will curse my neighbor when he falls to chum his sorrel hen; and he will shoot my buggy horse, because it ate his patch of gorse; and he will pull hair and ears, and everyone will be in tears; and when the cops have run us in, the judge will murmur: "What a sin, that neighbors come to such a pass, for ten cents' worth of garden sass!"

Injurious Concrete Floors.

Opponents of the use of concrete for floors in factories contend that the stone-like surface is injurious to the feet and backs of workmen, and that the dust ground from the concrete finds its way into and injures the machine bearings.

Good in Being Well Dressed.

Carelessness in the matter of clothes undoubtedly lowers a man in his own estimation. I don't believe there is a man alive who can preach a good sermon or can be an effective and skillful doer of any good work, if he is conscious that his linen is soiled and his clothes are ill-fitting and worn. There is about the ill-dressed man a sense of incompetence that shames him of his personal power and magnetism.

WILLARD-HARLOW CO. PREPARED TO BUILD

Site at Spring Brook to be Selected Today—Plans for Two-Story Brick Building Now Ready.

Plans for the new Willard-Harlow factory have been drawn and as soon as the factory site, which will be in Spring Brook, has been selected, the contract for the construction of the building will be let and work will be immediately begun. The site will be chosen either this afternoon or tomorrow and it is hoped to have the preliminary construction work in full swing by next week.

The plans as drawn call for a two-story brick building, eighty by thirty-two feet, with a construction throughout. The first floor will be devoted to turning out the metal parts of the company's products while the second will be the canvas department. Electricity will be the motive power but large motor or individual motors has not yet been decided.

Among the articles to be manufactured by the new company are automobile tops, boat canopies, automobile tops, tents, window awnings, steam heat meters, spark plugs, while extensive screw machine work will be done in the machine shop.

ANNUAL VISITOR TO CITY, AND LIKES IT

Genial Al. Wilson Talks of Bower City and His Visits Here Each Season.

Al. Wilson makes an annual visit to Janesville. He has been doing it for some seasons past and he enjoys it. This silver-haired songster and his company reached the city this noon from the south and this afternoon Mr. Wilson went for an auto ride to see how much the city had improved since his last pilgrimage here. When seen at his hotel he said:

"I delight in visiting Janesville, for the reason that the audience have proven very loyal to me. They enter into the action of the play with an expression of 'Here's where we have a good time' and then my company has an enjoyable evening."

"I take pleasure in staying to the audience here, and have a feeling of regret when the curtain falls on the last act, but you know we have a little 'fair' in the person of Miss Olive Wright and we must not keep her up too late or she will lose her beauty sleep, so we have to say 'good night' before the hour strikes eleven. You will have a cigar, will you not? Ach, aber yes, do have one. This is a good one. And by the way, I am sure to come and see us tonight."

SCIENCE AND INVENTION

DETACHABLE SIDE-LOCK GUN.

English Firm Has Newly Invented Weapon with Novel Thumb Lever Contrivance.

Messrs. Joseph Lang and son, gun-makers of Bond street, W., have sent us for inspection a most twelve-bore side-lock gun, the leading feature of which is the invention of a means for detaching the locks by the raising of a small thumb lever sunk into the plate as illustrated herewith. It is interesting to note that the thumb-lever is connected with a spring-actuated catch inside the lock which acts very much in the same manner as an ordinary latch. The invention of the thumb-lever unlocks the plate and allows it to be removed by the lifting of the external lever, and the reverse operation of restoring it is effected by pressing it home into its place. In the Lang model gun the cocking-lever does not carry the ordinary lifting spring. If the mechanism were left in its usual state a detachable lock such as this is might leave the owner doubtful as to the proper position of the cocking-lever when shutting up the lock home into place, and if not forewarned he might put the lock home again with the cocking-lever in the wrong position. Messrs. Lang have, accordingly, made it impossible to put the lock home again in any other position but the right one.

the ordinary way the locks could then only be properly replaced in position with the tumblers down; but to prevent the shooter being obliged to remember the details of the arrangement a spring-actuated catch has been fitted to the tumbler, the effect of which is the enabling of the cocking arm to take up its right position in relation to the tumbler, no matter whether the lock is cocked or not. The shooter, therefore, of a Lang gun with detachable side-locks has only one thing not to forget. The safety catch, when returning the lock after firing, must be set at "safe," which can very easily be carried out without any need for a complicated or expert operation, thus simplifying to the shooter very greatly the putting together again of the action in the gun.

DEVICE TO WASH VEGETABLES

Looks Like a Paper Stand and Has Cylinder Filled with Water and Operated by Hand.

How often people are heard to say that they do not eat this or that in hotels and restaurants because they do not know if it has been cleaned properly. In the old days, when the process of properly cleaning anything was a more or less lengthy proceeding, this objection was a fair one, but now it has less ground for existence. With the advent of the numerous time and labor-saving devices, the food is Useful in Large Families.

Just as clean in first-class restaurants and hotels as it is at home, and one of the inventions that have brought about this improvement is the vegetable washer devised by a New Hampshire man. In appearance the vegetable washer looks very much like the paper stands seen on store counters. It comprises a stand on which a hollow cylinder rests upon an axle. The cylinder has an opening on one side and a screw top for the opening. The whole is water-tight. The vegetables are placed in the receptacle, which is filled with water, the top screwed on and the cylinder revolved by means of a handle.

LOCATING TRUFFLES.

The Hunter Works With a Trained Pig and a Pointed Staff.

The truffles looked exactly like white potatoes that had been very thoroughly dusted with powdered cinnamon. They were the size of white potatoes, and they had the white potato's irregular shape.

"On the way to the Riviera," said the host, "I stopped at Marselles in order to see a truffle, or truffle gatherer, at work. Truffles come only from France. They cost, even over there, about $5 a pound. The taste? Well, mushroomy, but much richer.

"Our Marselles truffle carrier carried a pointed staff. His indispensable co-laborer was a trained pig on a leash. The pig was like any other, only his snout was longer and better developed.

"We spectators had hardly walked 100 yards over the fields when the pig stopped and began to root near the foot of an oak. The truffle helped him to dig with the pointed staff. Some truffles appeared a foot underground, and the truffle pushed the pig aside, threw it an acorn and put the truffles in his bag.

"He found, or rather, his pig found, a dozen truffles in the hour we watched him. At every find the pig was rewarded with an acorn. These pigs cost $400 apiece. The man made about $4 that morning."—Exchange.

HIS OWN COIN.

Knox Gave Root What Root Had Passed Out to Depew.

Senator Depew told a little story on himself and Senator Root in a speech at a dinner in Washington to Mr. Root by the New York Republican congressional delegation.

"When Root was secretary of state," said Senator Depew, "I went over to see him and asked him if he couldn't do something for me in the line of consular appointments. He said: 'Senator, I'm sorry. I would like to do something for New York, but—and Mr. Root picked up a paper from his desk—I see that New York's quota is now exceeded by 14 per cent.'

"Well," continued Senator Depew, "I kept going to see Senator Root for a year. Every time I went to see him he would remind me that New York's quota was exceeded by 14 per cent. Finally I said, 'Mr. Secretary, I think you're a great statesman, but your mathematics are inclined to be automatic.'

"After awhile Mr. Knox became secretary of state," Senator Depew said when the laughter subsided. "Senator Root went up to see him about consular appointments. 'I'm sorry,' said Mr. Knox, 'but—and he turned to a document file—I find that New York's quota is now exceeded by 14 per cent.'—New York Sun.

Major Pond and Bill Nye.

More than one successful lecture star had to thank Major Pond for his start. He had been discrimination and not infrequently sought out and dragged upon the lecture platform an obscure genius who never thought to see himself before the footlights. Such a genius was Bill Nye. When the major found him he was acting as postmaster and editing the Laramie Homestead over a lively stable. ("Walk down the alley, twist the gray mare's tail, take the elevator immediately.") Pond persuaded him to try lecturing, and as there proved to be both money and useful publicity in it Nye was grateful and used for years to remember the major with characteristic notes, one of which had the following exhaustive signature:

Yours with a heart full of gratitude and a system full of drugs, paints, oil, turpentine, glass, putty and everything usually kept in a first class drug store.

P. S.—Open all night.

Old Times at the Capital.

In recalling the lively and picturesque incidents which the old times enjoyed in Washington one is moved almost to tears over the commonplace nature of his own times. John Adams used to bathe in the Potomac every morning at daylight because he had no bathtub in the White House, and no one ever pulled a kodak on him. President Taylor used to walk about the town and stop and chat with every one he met, like a policeman. A reception in the White House in these days is relieved of monotony only by the great crush of guests, who trample the clothes off one another's backs. Another president set up in the east room a 600 pound cheese and invited the multitude to come in and help itself, which the multitude proceeded to do.

Fat and Thin.

The two women encountered each other at a dance. They had not met for several years.

"How thin you have grown!" exclaimed one.

"How fat you've got to be!" the other cried, and they stood gazing at each other in some dismay.

"Before you come to blows," remarked a mutual friend who stood by, "let's take a vote as to which is worse, to get too fat or to get too thin."—New York Press.

Not Guilty.

A Diet of Wild Honey.

Wild honey as a change is an agreeable sweetening, but after a few days constantly partaking of it the European palate rejects it as nauseous and almost disgusting. Our experience extended over a fortnight, during which period our food consisted solely of it and maize. It has escaped the biblical commentators that one of the principal hardships that John the Baptist must have undergone was his diet of wild honey.—National Geographic Magazine.

War and Automobiles.

It was in 1911, so we are automobiles driven by a drunken or fool man. War hath her subtle victories; auto, too. All through nature some kind of deadly war has been the main method of selecting the fittest for survival. Religion and love may in the future be the greatest rulers of the world, but speaking of the past, war has done most of all, for war has killed off a lot of savage men who would have held civilization back.—N. Y. Times.

The Ticklemouse

—and his Sleepyland Adventures

By Roy Rutherford Bailey with Davy and Dorfy

On Gumdrops Mountain

THE Ticklemouse was already in his furs when the twins awoke last night at the tickling touch of his cool paw.

In the dim light of the nursery he shook out two little fur suits like his own. The twins slipped into them, and laughed to see that they looked more alike than ever. "We're triplets, now!" squeaked the Mouse.

He led them to the window and fastened their new toboggan below his armpits, ready for emergencies. They stepped in the Ticklemouse grasping the levers. The motor's hum rose high and shrill—they were up and away!

Their captain spoke never a word as he headed the aeroplane into the wind and pointed her straight for the North Star. By and by Davy understood. "He's taking us to the North Pole, Dorfy!" he shouted, happily. The Mouse heard him, and winked over his shoulder toward a fat oilskin bag marked "Polar Provisions."

Davy opened it. "See, Dorfy!" and he drew out a handful of crackers and cheese. Dorfy nestled closer to the Ticklemouse's side, and fed him while she ate, and they sped on into the frozen North—the land of the midnight sun.

"You dear little thing!" said the Mouse in her ear. "I know plenty of little girls who'd never stop to think whether a Ticklemouse was hungry or not. But they never get rid to the Pole, do they? Ah! There it is, now!"

Swinging in wide circles about a small, glistening mountain among thousands of startled, screaming snowflakes, their airship settled gently to the verities at its base. The three fur-clad comrades stepped out on to the ice and stared at the mountain, and at the silent sentinel that capped its crest. The Mouse sniffed the frosty, tingling air in disappointment.

"It's the North Pole, sure pop," he said as they started up the mountain. "But—I felt sure, somehow, that the Pole was made of green cheese, the same as the moon; but the wind's blowing due south, and there's no hint of cheese!"

Just then little Dorfy slipped and fell fat on the frosty mountain-side. When they picked her up, she was licking her lips. "It's candy!" she cried, "just taste it, Davy—I thought it was ice!"

The Ticklemouse smiled. "What kind of candy?"

"Gumdrops. Why, the mountain isn't ice at all!"

"Right-O! We're now on Gumdrops Mountain—no wonder polar expeditions are popular with the Eskimo boys! We'll take some specimen gumdrops home for proofs." A deep, hollow groan from the mountain-top cut him short. Could it be the Pole was alive?

"With the Stars and Stripes in his teeth, the Ticklemouse scrambled up the Pole and nailed them proudly to the peak. He paused a moment, then fastened something just below the flag—something red and round. "That'll do as a substitute for leaving our instruments in a cache," he muttered.

"What was it?" asked Dorfy, as they descended slowly to their machine.

"He frowned. "A meteorite! Wish I could maroon every last one of 'em up here, out of harm's way!"

Another last, long look at the lonely Pole—tall and grim in the rosy light of the Aurora—and they rose into the air, headed for home. As they swooped southward, it seemed to their backward glances as if the Pole were rocking back and forth in silent laughter. They flew lower and more slowly than on their northbound trip, so that the odd little igloos of the Eskimos, the lurking polar bears, the shining ice-fields and yawning stretches of open water dotted with walrus herds and huge, gleaming icebergs, were in sight for hours.

It was nearly dawn when they landed in their own familiar bedroom. It seemed strange to find everything just as they had left it, for they felt as if they had been gone a month.

Mr. Ticklemouse felt carefully through the pockets of their fur suits after the twins popped into bed. He looked inquiringly at Dorfy. The little girl hung her head.

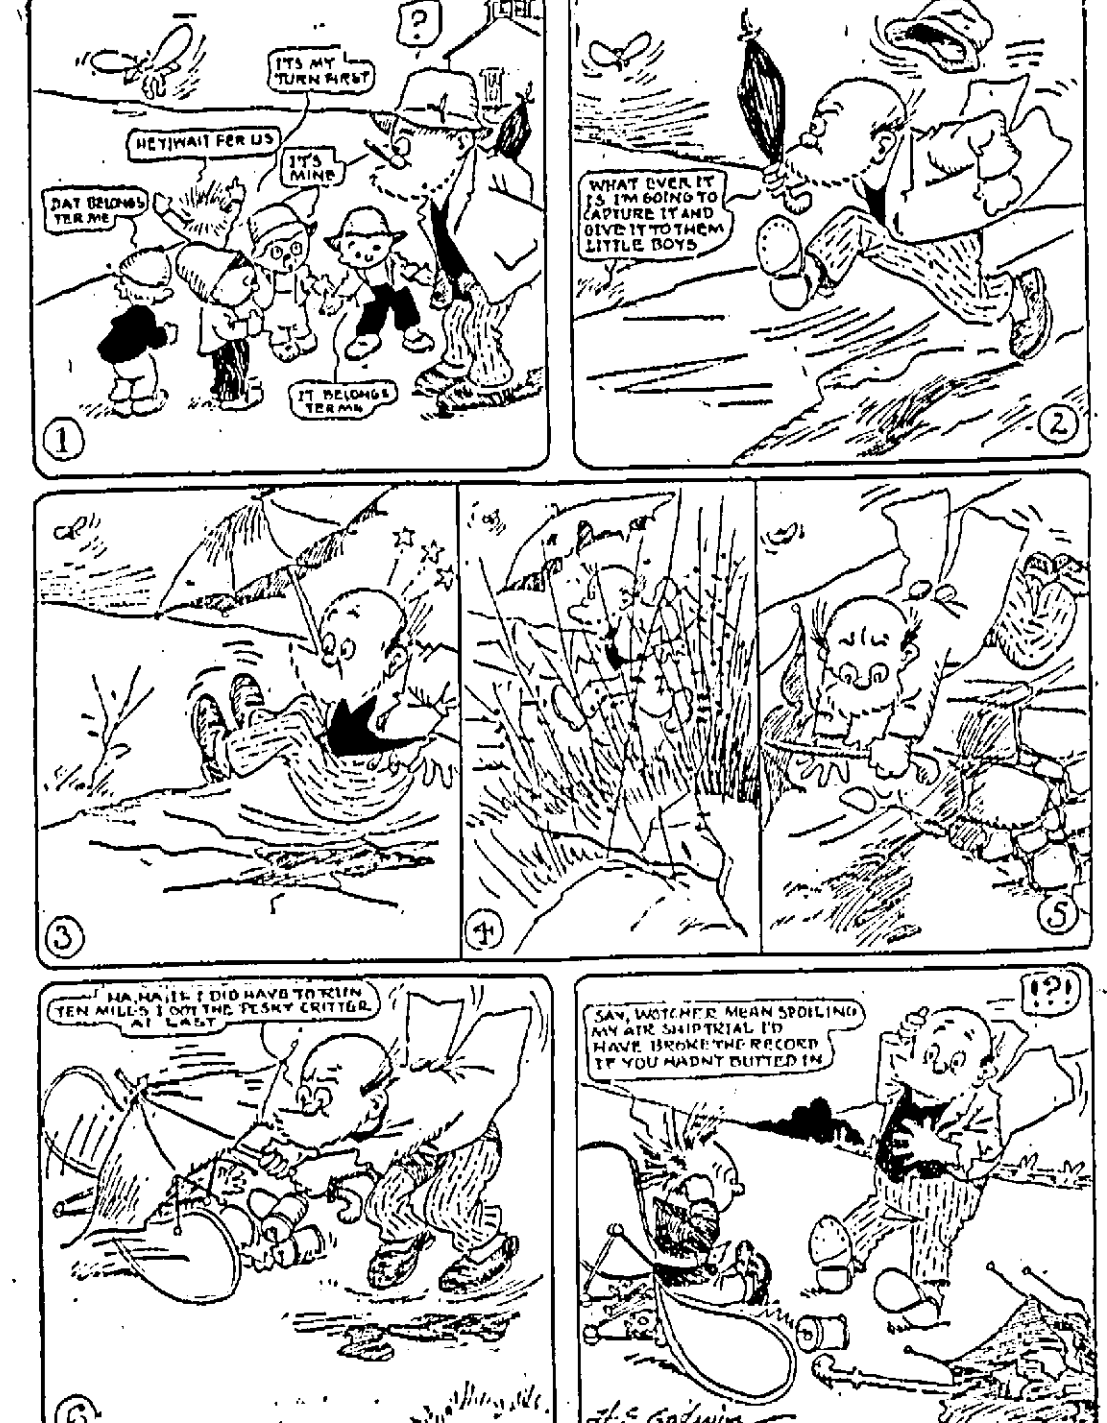

"The—proofs? Oh, Mr. Ticklemouse, I was watching the polar bears and I got so excited I forgot and—ate 'em all up!"

Davy glared at her. "Not all those gumdrops?"

"Yes, and—the chips off the Pole." "Then nobody will believe we've been there at all!" gasped Davy. "Oh, Mr. Ticklemouse, what shall we do?"

The Ticklemouse smiled and patted the twins goodnight. "Never mind," he said, "it's just as well, I guess, after all. What are proofs, on a night like this? I didn't see anybody else's tracks in the gumdrops, did you?"

He cut loose the unused toboggan. "Let the other fellow have the glory, and we'll have the fun!" and with the whirr of the impatient fans he vanished into the silent night.

1. "HEY! WAIT FOR US!" "IT'S MY TURN FIRST!" "DAY BEFORE YER WIFE!" "IT'S MINE!" "IT'S MINE!" "IT'S MINE!"

2. "WHAT EVER IT IS, I'M GOING TO CAPTURE IT AND GIVE IT TO THEM LITTLE BOYS!"

3. "HAW! I DID HAVE TO KIDNAP TEN MILLS TO GET THE PINKY CRITTER AT LAST!"

4. "SAY, WATCHER MEAN SPOILING MY AIR SHIP? I'D HAVE BROKE THE RECORD IF YOU HADN'T BUTTED IN!"

5. "DOCTOR, WHY DON'T YOU SOMETIMES DENOUNCE WICKEDNESS IN HIGH PLACES?" "Bless your soul, Brother Hardesty, I do! Have you forgotten that in my sermon two Sundays ago I spoke sharply against the practice of flitting in the elevated railway trains?"—Chicago Tribune.

A File Can't "Touch" It

THE Ton-Don Axle is as hard as flint on the outside. A file slides over the spindle like it would over smooth glass. But the inside is soft, or natural, and will not bend or break under 6,000 pounds pressure.

The hardened outside is so thick that it will not wear through in twenty years' use. Yet the file-proof spindle and the box with its sleeve of Phosphor Bronze, which grows smoother and harder with use, show no perceptible wear after thousands of miles of running. They will never heat or cut.

Students Are Refused Right to Hear
Speech in Which He Condemns Assassination—Audience Cheers and Papers Print His Remarks.

Cairo, Egypt, Mar. 29.—The two most striking features of Col. Theodore Roosevelt's address at the assembly hall of the University of Egypt were declarations that nations as well as individuals need long and careful preparation for self government and a condemnation of assassination.

On both subjects he had strong words to utter, burning words that went to the kernel of the Egyptian political attitude.

Colonel Is Resolute.
He uttered these words against the advice of missionaries and officials, both native and English, who feared that the result might be personal harm. Every effort was made to dissuade Col. Roosevelt from talking on either of these subjects, but he resolutely declined to alter his address, his ultimatum being: "If I cannot say what I believe to be true then I won't speak."

He spoke and emerged safely, his speech being cheered to the echo, although not by the students because they were not invited to be present, owing to the apprehension felt by the government officials.

Wanted Students Present.
Col. Roosevelt noticed the absence of the students immediately after he ascended the rostrum and professed his remarks to the fashionable throng of ladies, officials and ministers by saying:

"Glad as I am to see you here, my remarks are intended for the students of this university," and in order that there might be no doubt he repeated this sentiment in a more emphatic manner before commencing his text.

He spoke with unusual deliberation, employing his well-known characteristic gestures, emphasizing his strongest points with clenched fist.

The majority of the native papers published the speech verbatim. El Sayed, the strongest Nationalist organ, expressed unqualified approval, but the others criticized severely the tenets and the advisability of such an address.

EMPLOYERS GET A BLACK EYE.

New York Supreme Court Decides It
Is Unlawful to Blacklist Employers.

New York, Mar. 29.—A victory of widespread importance to labor all over the United States was won by Clarence J. Shearn, who secured from Supreme Court Justice Fitzgerald an opinion which, in layman's language, means that if it is unlawful for labor unions to blacklist employers, as in the famous Truck Store Company, it is just as unlawful for employers to blacklist employees.

The decision was rendered by Judge Fitzgerald in making permanent the injunction of the Enterprise Association of Steamfitters against the Building Trades Employers' association because the latter had tried to prevent the employment of the union's members. It is thought the effect of the decision will be so great that the employers' association practically will be disrupted by it.

PINCHOT IS MISSING ABROAD.

Falls to Reach London with Passengers from Steamer.

Cherbourg, Mar. 29.—When the Hamburg-American steamer President Grant arrived here last night efforts were made to locate Clifford Pinchot, the former chief forester of the United States, who was reported to have sailed from New York March 26 on the vessel, but the officials of the President Grant stated that Mr. Pinchot had landed at Plymouth with the intention of proceeding to London. Mr. Pinchot is reported to be on his way to meet former President Roosevelt at some European city.

"WET" GIFT PLEASES ROOSEVELT

Colonel Writes Kentuckian Thanks
for Thirty-Year-Old Whisky.

Louisville, Ky., Mar. 29.—In acknowledgment of the receipt of three gallons of 30-year-old Kentucky whisky sent to Africa last fall, Gen. John L. Castleman received the following letter from Theodore Roosevelt:

"In the Lado, Feb. 1, 1910.—Dear Colonel: You're a trump. I heartily appreciate the gift and still more the thoughtfulness that lies back of it. We have had a great hunt and have shot almost as well as if we were Kentuckians. Faithfully yours,
"Theodore Roosevelt."

TRAINMEN ARE GRANTED RAISE

New Haven Railroad Advance Wages
of Every Employee Ten Per Cent.

New Haven, Conn., Mar. 29.—The trainmen and conductors won their fight for a general wage increase on the New Haven railroad system, and a new schedule was signed with the railroad officials which will give an increase of about ten per cent. in wages to every employee of the system, without regard to his union or non-union affiliations.

DOCTOR'S TESTIMONY AIDS SLAYER OF SAYLER

Physician Called by Prosecution Gives Evidence Which Helps
Dr. Miller.

Watsela, Ill., Mar. 29.—Probably the most important witness yet presented by the prosecution in the Sayler murder trial was Dr. Near of Watsela, who was on the stand most of the day.

Much of his testimony was decidedly favorable to Dr. Miller and indicates that the story of the defense that "Bill" Sayler had come after him with a hatchet and that he had to shoot in self-defense was not concocted hours after the shooting. He had reached Crescent City that night in response to a telephone message from Lacey Sayler. When arriving there he asked Miller how it all had happened and Miller told him, "It came after me with an ax and I had to shoot him."

This was four hours before the ax was reported found in the Sayler home. At the time of this conversation Dr. Miller was apparently not aware that he had killed Sayler. Dr. Near stated that on questioning Miller as to how he (Miller) had been wounded in the wrist, Dr. Miller told him that he had accidentally shot himself in the scuffle with Sayler.

As to Mrs. Sayler's action on that night when Dr. Near called at the Sayler home, he stated that she did not appear to be very much excited or grief-stricken as she was told that her husband was lying dead in the parlor of his own home.

Dr. Near then described the wound inflicted on Dr. Miller. He went into a lengthy description as to just how he had dressed Miller's wrist, and when he was relating that Miller had told him at the time that he had shot himself accidentally in the right wrist, he added that he had known for a long time that Dr. Miller was left-handed.

The defense at this point made special note of this fact which is considered by them as of inestimable value.

QUIZ BANKERS IN PITTSBURG.

Grand Jurors Push Graft Probe—Indict Thirty-Four Councilmen.

Pittsburg, Pa., Mar. 29.—The grand jury's program, which calls for the examination of nearly a hundred directors and officials of six Pittsburgh banks in connection with the alleged bribery of councilmen to obtain legislation which made those banks official depositories for the city's money, was begun.

When the jurors came out of the star chamber their report had to do with the formal indictment of 34 present and former councilmen against whom indictments had been previously ordered in the grand jury's presentation of Friday last.

The counts charged in the indictments of Hugh Ferguson, William Brand and Charles S. Stewart are both conspiracy and bribery in connection with the acceptance and distribution of $102,500 as bribes to other councilmen. The other 31 indicted are charged with acceptance of the bribes.

MINERS' STRIKE NEAR AT HAND.

Union Convention Unanimously Reject
Operators' Proposition.

Cincinnati, Mar. 29.—Rejection by the miners of Ohio, Indiana and western Pennsylvania of a proposition from the operators that called for five cents' increase per ton, but which either refused or referred the remainder of the demands to the districts, put the situation nearer to a possible strike than it has been since the beginning of the joint conference.

The vote against accepting the proposition was unanimous when put before the convention of the United Mine Workers.

Accordingly it was referred back to the joint conference and this body will meet again and start anew in an endeavor to reach a settlement or to declare off all negotiations.

WOMAN GETS COUNTY OFFICE.

Nebraska Supreme Court Holds Her
Eligible as Treasurer.

Lincoln, Neb., Mar. 29.—A woman is eligible to hold the office of county treasurer, according to a majority opinion rendered by the Nebraska supreme court.

Miss Gertrude Jordan was elected treasurer of Cherry county last November, but the defeated opponent refused to surrender his office. On an appeal the judges decided in favor of Miss Jordan.

There was but one dissenting opinion, Justice Fawcett declaring the precedent would permit a woman to be elected governor.

PRESIDENT HAS NARROW ESCAPE

His Auto at New York Collides with Street Car.

New York, Mar. 29.—President Taft had a narrow escape from possible serious injury late last night while speeding in an automobile for the Pennsylvania ferry at the foot of West Twenty-third street on his return to Washington from the dinner of his class in Yale at the University club. As his automobile neared Eighth avenue a south-bound Eighth avenue car started across the street. The chauffeur turned the machine but could not stop, and for half a block the car and the auto "skidded," scraping sides.

AN EASTER SERMON

By GRACE ETHEL WEEKS

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

The Rev. Tom Howard was not cut out for a clergyman. He was Tom at school, Tom in college and Tom in the theological seminary. He was a good fellow whom everybody loved, a big framed, big hearted man who should have followed an active career. He had stood low in his classes while in college, but had redeemed himself on the football gridiron, carrying his university colors to victory on his own herculean shoulders.

When Tom accepted his first call he tried extemporaneous sermons. They were not satisfactory. Members of his congregation hinted to him that they would prefer written sermons. This was a blow to him, in college he had usually secured the services of some student possessing literary gifts to write his essays for him. He returned to that plan.

Howard admitted that he secured the name of a clergyman living in a small town distant from the city in which he himself lived who made a practice of writing sermons for other incumbents of pulpits. Tom thought it a pity that this man was born with the ability to write not only his own sermons, but those of other people, while he, poor fellow, was not able even to write his own. There was something pathetic in this big broad shouldered fellow, in the vigor of his youth, strong as an ox, not being able to get up a homily that would require a brief twenty minutes to deliver.

Howard wrote the Rev. Egbert Ingelhart asking if he would sell him sermons. Ingelhart replied that he would and named his price. Howard agreed to pay it and ordered half a dozen sermons. They were sent within a fortnight, and Howard was delighted with them. After delivering one of them many of his congregation surrounded him, pouring forth congratulations that he had found the true method of getting up his sermons. Mr. Howard congratulated himself that he had. At the same time he felt somewhat uncomfortable at having his abilities supplied by another.

There were certain points in the sermons that were very unlike Mr. Howard. A feminine tenderness at times more befitting a reverend cream cheese than a reverend athlete. Howard wrote Mr. Ingelhart about it, and Ingelhart asked him to send him his photograph. The photograph was sent, and Mr. Ingelhart asked: "Why didn't you send it before? Now I know what kind of a man you are and can write for you accordingly."

The next sermon received was a Thanksgiving address to be delivered on the date of a great football match between two prominent universities. It was brilliant with such expressions as "light the good light," "anote them hip and thigh" and "conquer by the Lord's help." In delivering it the minister was in his element, and his sermon was voted a brilliant success.

From that time forward Howard continued to grow in favor with his flock. Most of the girls in the congregation set their caps for him. But there is safety in numbers. Besides, the clergyman didn't fancy any of them. However, he received many hints that the church would prefer a married pastor, and he began to think he must marry or find another field of labor. Thinking that one who had helped him out so well with his sermons might be equally serviceable in a matter of matrimony, he wrote Mr. Ingelhart, with whom he had become quite intimate through correspondence, of his dilemma and asked him if he knew of any girl who would make a good clergyman's wife. Ingelhart replied that there were a number of the young women in his parish and if he would come up Ingelhart would give him a chance to look them over. Howard replied that he would go up for a brief visit in Lent, because he wished to talk over a sermon for Easter that would bear upon the duty of the young man of his congregation to marry. This would include himself, but he was doing his own duty in looking for a wife.

So during the second week in Lent, Howard, having secured a classmate in the seminary to take his place at daily services for a day or two, went to visit Ingelhart. He had expected that as a matter of course his reverend brother would invite him to stay at his house. But he received no such invitation and on arrival went to a hotel. The same morning he called on Ingelhart.

"Please step into the study," said the maid who admitted him. Howard passed into the study and saw a girl writing at a desk. "Beg pardon," he said. "I supposed I should find your father in here." "You are Mr. Howard, I know you from the photograph you sent me." "Sent you?"

"Yes; I pass as Egbert Ingelhart. That was my father's name. I have written the sermons sent you."

The big man looked down on the girl, and a hot blush spread over his face. The girl looked amused.

"You desire me to help you to find a wife," she said.

"No, I don't—that is, if you will accept the situation yourself. I have a wife to write my sermons I can fight the devil most advantageously."

The Easter sermon was delivered, and it was a splendid effort, and many of the young men were converted to matrimony. As to the girls, not one in the congregation needed conversion. Just before the benediction the pastor announced his engagement.

Bookkeeping by Electricity!

When good old Ben Franklin--the patron saint of electricity--felt the first tingling thrill of the mysterious power coming down his kite string from the clouds, he little dreamed that a future generation would apply the self-same power to the keeping of business records.

But it is a fact—realized today in the Burroughs Electric Adding and Listing Machine.

The first Burroughs Machines were operated by a handle and these were enthusiastically received. Upwards of 80,000 of these machines are now saving millions of dollars each year for their users.

One of these hand-operated machines will actually double the work-capacity of any of your bookkeepers, giving him more time to devote to the profit-producing end of the business! The bulk of his computing and report-making can be done on the Burroughs; and all without any special thinking on his part. By pressing the keys and pulling the handle the burden of routine figuring is transferred from his brain to the perfect mechanism of the machine.

But the Burroughs Electric goes a step further. It cuts out the handle pulling. Not only does it relieve the operator of a tremendous volume of mental work—the dull monotonous kind of mental work—but it does away with practically all physical effort.

So that with a Burroughs Electric a man can do 25 per cent more work than with a hand-operated machine.

The Electric Motor does all but press the keys!

Think of it—think of adding up a long column of numbers (fractions and all) by merely pushing down a key and pressing a touch-bar! That's what a Burroughs Electric will do for you. First, you simply register the numbers on the keys—it works very much like a typewriter. Each number is then printed on a strip or a wide sheet by touching the bar. And after all are listed you simply press a key, touch the bar and the correct total is printed at the end of the column.

And all these advantages are procured simply by attaching the Burroughs electric plug to any electric socket; the power required for a 16 C. P. bulb will operate the mechanism and either direct or alternating current can be used.

The machine can easily be moved about the office, of course, it being only necessary to have it near a socket for the attachment.

No fussing, no work, no difficulty at all; simply attach the plug, press the "on" button—controlling the motor—and begin your work.

If at any time your current fails, you can go right along with your work by inserting the handle. The Burroughs Electric is all that a hand-operated machine is—and much more.

And remember this—no machine leaves our factory until it has withstood harsher tests than it will ever experience in actual service. Our electric machines for instance are not passed to the Sales Department until they have been proved out by having keys locked down and run for a considerable number of hours at full speed.

You know now what a Burroughs Electric Bookkeeping Machine is; you know some of the things it will do—and why; possibly you realize that such a machine would be of definite, measurable value in your business.

There are 65 styles of Burroughs; some one or more, will do work at a big saving FOR YOU. You can't judge fairly until you see its specific application to your work.

The attached coupon will enable you and us to get action.

Keep Your Clothes Always New

You can do it with the Wayne Cedared Paper Wardrobe. Preserve the freshness—the shape—the newness of all your clothes, far beyond the usual period of wear.

When you lay aside a suit, a gown, a coat, trousers or wrap, even for a day, just slip it into a Wayne Wardrobe.

It takes only a moment and your garment is hung full length and free from wrinkles in a germ-tight, air-tight, dust-proof, moth-proof and moisture-proof bag, redolent of the clean, wholesome atmosphere of the cedar grove, which repels everything that destroys clothes.

Wayne Cedared Paper Wardrobes are the ideal storing protection for your winter clothes through the summer and your summer clothes through the winter. But they are MUCH MORE than that.

They are PROTECTION WORTH DOLLARS for the clothes you put on and off from week to week—for your Sunday clothes, for your party gowns, for your light and heavy wraps, as the weather varies.

They freshen your clothes during the rest periods, make them last longer, do away with so many life-destroying pressings.

And all at a cost of from 50c to $1.50.

Wayne Cedared Paper Wardrobe

is made of Wayne lute hemp paper cedarized by our exclusive process.

No odor is imparted to the clothes. How preferable to the disagreeable smell of tar paper, camphor or moth balls, which clings to your clothes for weeks.

The Wayne Wardrobe is tough, pliable and durable. It is good for years of service. Let us show you its construction—its stout steel hanger outside and its row of steel hooks inside.

All the Weight On the Hooks

The inside hooks are so firmly fastened through a metal bar that they can never come loose. This bar is riveted to the outside hanger so that the entire weight falls on the hanger AND NONE ON THE WARDROBE. We have hung 100 lbs. on these hooks.

Extra wide opening of the wardrobe—accordion pleated sides giving ample room for the garment without the least crushing. Reinforced satchel bottom and metal clasps for closing.

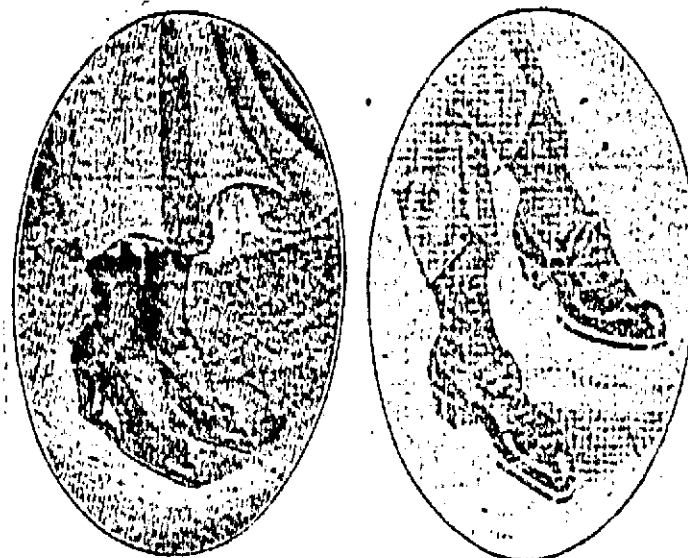

Put your Wayne Wardrobes anywhere—in the attic—basement—storeroom—closet—back hall. They are flexible cedar chests without the weight, bulk and the inconvenience of the old fashioned cedar chests which you cannot lift.

the same old channels of unprosper-ous business. T. A. Perry sold a 25c

like character in small lots.
The return of warm weather is causing the bulk of imported leaf to start sweating, giving the smokers some trouble to care for it. The resulting is now mostly in and smokers are weighing up some leaf in the country where their storage is filled
and growers anxious for settlements.
If early spring conditions continue the plant beds for another crop will soon be laid.
The shipments out of storage reach report ten cars have been received from outside points.

If the indications of an early spring prevailing of late should continue farmers will have their plant beds laid
at an earlier date than for some years past. The soil is already in excellent shape but the fear of cold rains and further freezing has been the only obstacle that prevented some work being done already in this line. It would be safe enough to sow dry beds even now but most growers prefer to wait until the danger of hard frosts is past and sow their beds with sprouted seed, as this plan invariably gives the best results. Sprouted seed in protected beds comes quickly and there is rarely ever a failure to ac-cure plants of a sufficient size at the proper date under good management and yet growers all recognize the advantage of having early plants and an abundance of them. The aim of all farmers is to start the plant beds as early in the season as is consistent with the prevailing weather conditions. The seed question for another crop ought to have been settled before this date and if there is a chance to improve the varieties the farmer has been growing do not neglect the opportunity to do so. If the tobacco year is ending is not as good or better than your neighbor's, hunt around and try and secure seed that will improve it and do it now.

BAD BLUNDER FOUND
IN ELECTION LAWS
Many Wisconsin Villages Are Voting
Under A Dead Statute According To Discovery Made.
It has just been discovered that by a blunder the legislature of 1907 unwittingly changed the election laws relating to villages, and that since that time probably every village in the state has held spring elections under a dead law.
Prior to 1901, the law provided that villages elect a president, six trustees
and other officers at the annual spring election. In 1901 this law was amended so that three trustees would hold over, and thereafter at each election
three trustees would be elected for a period of two years. In 1907, to change the law so that it would not relate to the election of supervisors in Milwaukee county, a bill was introduced to amend the village election laws, but the man who drew the bill overlooked the amendment of 1901,
and the law prior to that time was incorporated in the bill, except that in the election of supervisors it should not apply to counties with a population of 250,000.
This law went into effect in 1907,
but the elections of 1908 were held under the old law, but three trustees being chosen. It is quite likely that the coming spring elections will be held the same way unless this accidental discovery is brought to the notice of the attorney general and notice given.

CHANCE THE VIBRATION
It Makes For Health.
A man tried leaving off meat, potatoes, coffee, and etc., and adopted a breakfast of fruit, Grape-Nuts with cream, some crisp toast and a cup of Postum.
His health began to improve at once for the reason that a meat eater will reach a place once in a while where his system seems to become clogged and the machinery doesn't work smoothly.
A change of this kind puts added
food and drink of the highest value, already partly digested and capable of being quickly strong tissue.
Nuts is the natural phosphate of potash grown in the grains from which it is made. This is the element which transforms albumen in the body into the soft gray substance which fills brain and nerve centres.
A few days' of Grape-Nuts will give one a degree of nervous strength well worth the trial.
Look in for the little book,
"The Road to Wellville." There's a reason.

us with two selections rendered in a very pleasing manner.
The M. E. church was filled in the evening to hear the children's Easter

were decorated with an abundance of blossoms.

MRS. WARREN GRAY
DIED EARLY TODAY
Passed Away at Four O'clock This Morning—An Old Wisconsin
Settler.
Shortly after four this morning the spirit of Mrs. Warren Gray passed into the world beyond. Her illness was so brief that the end came before the physician, hurriedly summoned, could arrive. An attack of apoplexy
was the direct cause of her demise.
Mrs. Gray, nee Wallace, was born on January 27, 1835, near Madison, Indiana. Her father, Reverend William Wallace, was an anti-slavery Baptist preacher, owning many slaves and conducting a large plantation. Mrs.
Gray's mother was Sarah Conway, related to the famous Conway family of Kentucky, and her ancestors on both sides had fought in the Revolutionary war and had been prominent in the early colonial history of Virginia from which state both the Conways and Wallace families removed into the Ohio river valley with other Scottish-Irish pioneers.
When but fifteen years of age she came with her parents to Wisconsin, settling near Belmont, the old capital of Wisconsin territory. In October of 1858 she was united in marriage to Warren Gray who with five children and seven grandchildren are left to mourn her loss. Mr. and Mrs. Gray moved from Belmont to Darlington and two years ago came to Janesville to make their home. In October of 1908 they celebrated their golden wedding with a family reunion. Mrs.
Gray has always been identified with the work of the Baptist church, having taken a prominent part in the society of the church at Darlington and Belmont and having affiliated with the First Baptist church of this city on her removal here. She was a charming woman, a Christian mother and loved by all who came in association with her. Her children are
Mrs. Nellie, nee Wallace, of this city;
E. Gray of New York City, E. W.
Gray of St. Louis, Colorado, Mrs. C. G.
Gray of Birmingham, Ala., and Mrs.
L. L. Leslie of this city. A daughter, Flora, died in infancy. Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been made.

VOTED ON IN FOOTVILLE

attended the mass meeting in the hall
Sunday night. Rev. W. D. Cox of Milwaukee gave the people some plain facts about the saloon business which were listened to with the deepest interest. Next Sunday evening another mass meeting will be held at the same place. The question of li-

this year.

SUMMER CAMPAIGNS
BEING MAPPED OUT
Mississippi Golf Club Planning for Coming Season at Both Club House and Links.
With the unusual March weather and promises of a long golf season, the enthusiasts at the game are planning for the most enjoyable eight months
with the great Scotch game.
The games committee with E. H. Peterson
as chairman is planning for a series of club contests as well as several inter club tournaments. Associated with Mr. Peterson on this committee are Mrs. Harry Carter and J. P. Baker.
The greens committee is composed of E. C. Grant, chairman; J. L. Wilcox,
and Albert Schaller. The membership committee is composed of H. H. Bliss, chairman; J. P. Baker and H. W. Mc-Namara. Already three new members have been added to the club roster.
Dr. J. P. Brown, the new superintendent
at the state school for the blind,
Dr. Frank Van Kirk and H. N. Hoadeck.
Upon the new house committee will devolve the bulk of the work of making the club house attractive and adding to the enjoyment of the golfers.
This work has been placed in the hands of the following committee, assisted by Mrs. Harry Bliss, Mrs. Edward H. Peterson, A. P. Burham and Howard Busck. Just what the committee will plan for the summer is not yet decided but it is probable that the annual Tuesday evening club night supper and dance will be one of the features as well as the afternoon bridge whist games for the ladies. Putting contests, mixed foursomes will be arranged for by the games committee.
The official season will not open until May 30th but before that time there will be many informal picnic parties,
suppers and probably dances held.
If the present weather continues, it is planned to have the golfers of a club night this season at the club
and also to have the golf his meet cars when the season officially opens.
Children may not enter for it, but they bought after taking A-B-C Tea. 25c.

MARTIN'S CHARGE IS DENIED.
Secretary Wickham Says He Never
Was Counsel for Sugar Trust.
Washington, Mar. 28.—Attorney General Wickham issued an emphatic denial that he had ever been counsel for the sugar trust. He admitted that his partner, Henry W.
Taft, brother of President Taft, had represented the sugar trust about three years ago in its litigation with the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company. The Wickham denial came in answer to charges made by Representative Northin of Colorado, in the house last Friday.
Representative Bennett of New York got Mr. Wickham's statement in the shape of a personal letter. It was read to the house and will be printed in the Record.
N. Y. C. MEN TO VOTE ON STRIKE.
Railroad Officials Refused Employees'
Demand but Offer Compromise.
New York, Mar. 28.—The officials of the New York Central road refused the demands of the conductors, train-men and switchmen for an increase in wages ranging from 8 to 61 per cent, but presented a compromise increase ranging from 8 to 25 per cent.
This proposition will have to be put
to a vote of the 5,800 men.
Life Is Too Short.
There isn't anything in the theory
that children will grow up to be grate-

don't live long enough for that—

AMATEUR NIGHT OF
THE APOLLO CLUB
Large Audience Enjoyed Vaudeville
Innovation at Library Hall
Last Evening.
Classic traditions of the Apollo club were temporarily set aside last evening for a full blown vaudeville program, with a habited announcement of the numbers and a heraldic and audience stunts dividing honors with the musical features. The entertainment was arranged under the direction of Mrs. George Philad, Mrs. W. T.
Shorer, and others and the large audience assembled at Library hall appear-ently welcomed the innovation. The strictly musical offerings, of course, were up to the high standard set by previous "Amateur Nights," though there were fewer of them, and the listeners and spectators, who are sometimes "coldly critical," gave generous encouragement all of the performers. In fact, the innovation was so cordially welcomed that the yearly home-talent programs, hereafter are likely to be departures along the same or similar lines.
The opening bill was an overture
superbly rendered by the Janesville
Symphony orchestra, led by Prof. J.
S. Taylor. Little Miss Elizabeth Philad, who was heralded as "The Child Violinist," was the next entertainment and the program was highly applauded. A high school order and won enthusiastic approval in her violin solo with Mrs.
George Philad, Sterling Campbell and William Mann as a pantomime ensemble about not only proved themselves gymnasts of remarkable ability but also gave a performance that was humorous, devoid of awkward pauses, interesting, and worthy of the most precedents set by the "professionals." The next offering, "P"
was flavored with the gentle romance
and glamour of the old colonial days.
Garbed in the costume of the period
and making a stage picture that was a delight to the eye, Mrs. W. T. Shorer, to the piano accompaniment of Miss Clara Belle Shorer, played two selections on an ancient melodeon of exquisite tone, the keyboard of the curious instrument undulating all the while like a shallop on a summer sea.
After the program had been resumed, following a brief intermission, and the orchestra had favored the audience with another pleasing selection, Miss Bessie Birch delighted all listeners and spectators with an original interpretation of "The Old Gray Bonnet"—a picture song in which the quaint and simple was not off in high roller by a final touch of the ultra modern in the shape of the swagger
from the back.
An enthusiastic applause with her
harmonic selection and the incomparable
Harry McClure, to the piano accompaniment of Miss Holly of Chicago, told the house by storm in one of his comedy songs and dance acts. A playlet entitled "The Rejuvenation of the Chandelier" and claimed to be a take-off either on Rosinda's play or Mr. Gross' "Merchant Prince of Cornwall" was the final offering. Charles Gage, as the proud old rooster, Harry Bliss as the red rooster, "Spills"—and Ralph Van Cleave as the owl, indulged in some airy perambulation and "grinds"
on local conditions.

Cleveland, O., March 28.—Forty-three years old today and one of the greatest pitchers in the game is the remarkable record of "Cy" Young,
who is with the Cleveland team in the South getting ready for the 1910 season. For an even score of years the Young has been playing major league. He began his professional ball in 1890 with the Canton team. One of his earliest exploits was the pitching of a no-hit game for Canton against McKeesport.
In the course of which he struck out eighteen men. This feat attracted the attention of the Cleveland management and before he had finished his initial season at Canton he was brought to this city. He remained with Cleveland eight years and then went to St. Louis. After three seasons in the Mount City he joined the Boston Americans in 1901. Last year
he returned to the Cleveland club, with which he had made his debut as a major league player twenty years ago. Thanks to a powerful physique and temperate habits the veteran is still hale and hearty and looks to be good for many more successful campaigns on the diamond.
